What a Waste

About us

Help us out!

Volunteers are what keeps FællesSkabet i København running and we rely on volunteers to:

- cleaning the fridge & fridges maintenance
- collect food from donors
- build the project
- help organise volunteers
- and help us continue fighting food waste and food insecurity.

Anyone can volunteer with us and volunteer shifts are coordinated through the open source platform Karrot.

It is developed uniquely for this type of project by members of Foodsavers Worldwide and Foodsharing Germany.

To find out more checkout our Karrot page and signup to volunteer.

What a Waste

About us

FællesSkabet i København or Free Fridge Copenhagen

Copenhagen is an open public community fridge located at Stengade 50 in Nørrebro, the idea is inspired by a variety of similar projects around the world and modeled on Fællesskabet located in Aarhus.

The idea of the Free fridge is to create a space for truly unconditional food sharing, with no restrictions, requirements or time limitations. The space is open 24/7 and caters to anyone who has surplus food to give, or needs food.

Anyone from employees in an office which has surplus food after lunch, to people who are unable to afford it or access it through the various programs around the city.

Free Fridge Copenhagen aims to cater to EVERYONE!

Location

We are located outside Folkets Hus in Stengade 50 in Nørrebro.

You will find the fridge to the right of the main entrance of Folkets Hus.
